February Artist of the Month Steven Mowles

Steve Mowles has a passion for painting landscapes from the west. He likes incorporating bright bold colors in his work. He is partial to reds, oranges, yellows and bright blues. He also finds delight in exploring his own backyard, the redwoods, mountains, ocean, clouds and the crazy Crescent City weather.

Studying under the artist Tom Lynch with watercolors, taught him the freedom of using that medium in the most expressive way. A painting field trip with artist Greg Kondos to the Grand Canyon led to an appreciation of the desert Southwest.

This year he had the opportunity to visit Monet's Gardens and observed how Monet brought to life in paint, the world of color and light through the romantic forms of flowers, plants and water.

Visit the gallery to see Steve's wonderfully colorful art.
